Whether it's your first pregnancy or your fourth, celebrate!

It doesn't matter if you're shy or outgoing; FDG creates a warm, comfortable environment where you may wear as much or as little clothing as you like. Children, husbands, partners and pets are optional, we love them all. We suggest you to plan your shoot between 6 and 10 weeks before your due date. FDG supplies fun props and creative ideas, plus dress ideas for a trendy or conservative photo sessions.

Due to the highly personalized nature of the work, before shooting your photos, we invite a consultation which can be held at your desired location, to help facilitate a better photography session by discussing your expectations and desires in advance. And it's your choice of either Sandy or Ed to shoot the session. The consultation also gives us the opportunity to meet with your family prior to the big shoot. A portrait agreement will be emailed or mailed to you, providing more information about your session as well as general business policies. The portrait agreement must be mailed back and signed, with the session fee to secure your date or rescheduling.

When planning your session clothing is a top priority. It is of extreme importance and should be considered and coordinated carefully. Your clothing choices will be a big determining factor in the final outcome of your portraits. Clothing should be of neutral colors and have a timeless feel to them. You should avoid logos and loud bright colors as these do not photograph well and will draw attention away from the subject. If more than one person will be included in the session, clothing tones and styles should match, to draw attention to the subjects – not their clothes. The main focus of the portrait should be the person, not what they are wearing.
