Candid and roving photography have become increasingly popular because each gives you a behind the scenes look of an event.

Event photography captures the spontaneous and unopposed moments that can really express how much fun your guests had. Using candid photography, you can create naturally expressed memories that portray the live pulse of your event.

With candid and roving photography, guests are presented posing with friends, winning awards, or shaking hands with hosts and sponsors. Great event photography lets you capture those moments you can't get with a stationary setup.

FDG has specialized personnel has the experience and expertise to capture the candid, natural flow of your event and get the perfect shots of your guests' most memorable moments. And, we do it all without interrupting the true meaning of the event.
